Estate Wines: The estate wines grow in the former riverbed of the Moselle, where glacial gravel deposits create a very favorable substrate for the vines. Already in the entry-level range, yields are significantly below the normal level of the region. This results in accessible, fruity wines with a lot of drinkability but also with good structure.

Description: Youthful, fresh, somewhat yeasty citrus-core fruit with herbal aromas and still slightly banana tones. Not completely dry pear-banana fruit, very fine acidity, delicate grip, herbal, floral, and yeasty nuances, very slightly nutty, good finish. (Very good, 85 points WeinPlus, 2021)

"The very good Pinot Blanc is clear and powerful, has ripe fruit, good structure, and substance." (Eichelmann Wine Guide).

Food Pairing: Poultry, soups, various fish dishes.
